The Charter of the Export-Import Bank, America's export credit agency, is due to expire on June 30. The Committee notes the President's call to reauthorize the Export-Import Bank but also recognizes a diversity of views within the Congress and the Committee. The Committee will work to consider reauthorization of the Bank through regular order that lets all sides be heard and will strive to complete work in a timely fashion that gives clarity and certainty to the American jobs that currently depend on the Bank's support for the sale of their products overseas.
